

Dulles Tackles U.N. Problems

To Brief American Delegation Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles tackled United Nations problems here today, scheduling a briefing with the American U. N. delegation and his first visit as U. S. foreign policy chief to the world organization's headquarters.

His visit is hard on the heels of Washington talks with Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden during which the Western Allies' attitude toward Soviet government changes caused by Stalin's death was touched on. Eden follows Dulles here tomorrow for two days of talks with other U. N. delegates.

Neither has commented publicly about their talks on what the Russian changes may mean.

Dulles planned to talk with reporters after paying his respects to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie, Assembly President Lester B. Pearson of Canada and Joao Carlos Muniz of Brazil, chairman of the Assembly Political Committee.

An early morning conference at the U. S. mission with Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, and members of his mission was to start the secretary's program.

Recently back from a swing around Europe and now preparing a trip to the Middle East, Dulles planned an early afternoon luncheon with Latin-American delegates and talks with others.

The Political Committee wound up its debates on Korean treaty proposals Saturday without indicating any new action. Its Korea discussion today was confined to the problem of Korean reconstruction and U. N. officials did not expect Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko to show up, especially since it is the day of Stalin's funeral.

Gromyko flew in Saturday morning to head the Soviet delegation during the absence of Andrei Vishinsky, former foreign minister and now designated as the chief permanent Soviet U. N. delegate. Vishinsky sailed back to Russia Friday for conferences.

Dulles and Eden emerge on the U. N. stage as plans are being made for a Security Council meeting Wednesday to discuss a successor to Lie. Spokesmen for their delegations said neither now intended to take part in committee or Council sessions.

Dulles gets an Amvets peace award at a luncheon to be held in Lie's private dining room here tomorrow, and then may go back to Washington. Eden plans to leave Friday for London.

Their agreement in Washington on curbing strategic materials for Red China managed to plug loopholes in the U. N. Assembly embargo without opening up a bitter public debate. Talk before this session opened of expanding the embargo terms led to speculation that the relations of U. N. allies would be strained. The agreement avoided this.

Boy, 11, 'Bails Out'

CLITHEROE, England (AP)—"She's out of control, Sam," yelled a jet pilot. "We'll have to bail out."

Sam Carlyon, 11, gritted his teeth and jumped.

He landed with a thud just outside his own front door and 15 feet down from his bedroom window.

"It was a very realistic dream," Sam said later. He wasn't even bruised.

"We're nailing up his bedroom window," said the boy's mother.

Train Kills Youths; Engineer Befriended

MOUNDVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Engineer H. Paul Hassell couldn't stop his freight train in time to save the lives of two youngsters who had won his heart.

His freight plowed into a pickup truck which pulled into its path at a crossing three miles south of here yesterday.

The shaken 50-year-old Birmingham engineer then learned that its occupants had been a brother and sister who had waved at his passing train for many years.

Both Jean O'Neal Perry, 17, and Benjamin Douglas Perry, 15, were killed instantly.

Hassell first noticed the children eight years ago, when they began running from their trackside farm to wave as he passed.

He dropped Christmas presents with his name on them, and the children sent him presents too. He had hunted with Ben and other members of his family.

Baby Is Born On Bus In Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Thomas Fowler Sargent made his entrance into the world on a bus yesterday.

When a passenger told Robert Gartland, driver on the bus bound from Hot Springs to Little Rock, that a baby was being born on his bus he speeded up for a 25-mile dash to a Little Rock hospital.

During the trip Dr. E. Feldman, a retired physician from Millington, Tenn., unwound the umbilical cord which tangled around the baby's head and calmed the mother, Mrs. Linda Sargent, 44, mother of nine other children.

Feldman said, "Nothing new to me. I was a country doctor for 40 years—delivered 'em in barns, wagons and what have you."

Hospital attendants say mother and son are doing fine.

3 Children Burn To Death In Wooden Home

ST. OMER DE L'ISLET, Que. (AP)—A fire sweeping through a wooden home here yesterday burned to death three small children.

Alfred Choinard, the father, returned home in time to save a fourth child, Herve, 2, but the infant, in a hospital with severe burns, was not expected to live.

The dead were Lucien, 4, Lise, 3, and Fernande, 3 months. The cause of the blaze was not determined.

OKAYS RUBBER CONTRACT

AKRON, O. (AP)—The CIO-United Rubber Workers' Local 2 approved a new two-year contract Tuesday with Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. The 18,000 members here are the firm's largest single group. Negotiated at Dayton nine days ago, the contract covers working conditions and leaves wages to be brought up at a later date.

The Real New York

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I have no more chamber of commerce spirit than the next man, but I hate to see the place I dwell in get a black eye.

And that is what has happened to New York, which is getting quite a reputation for itself as "the city of the big fix." The idea is spreading that you can get anything fixed here from a zipper to a boxing match.

Every time somebody turns over a flat rock anywhere in the municipal limits lately he seems to uncover a new mess. A paving scandal. . . A waterfront payoff. . . Bookie bought-and-sold cops. . . Bribed basketball players. . . A civic budget that is a beckoning finger to bankruptcy.

Just name any brand of rascality, and up we come with it. Each new case plumb startles and amazes our city fathers, but the plain workaday Joes who lives here are getting tired of it all. The pastors have leagued together and are demanding more action and less surprise from City Hall. They want crime bopped—and bopped now.

The ordinary citizen here talks tough and cynical about his elected officials, and is inclined to believe few ever have to make a sad journey from City Hall to the poor house. He always suspects corruption is there, but when they do turn over that flat rock and expose it—well, he wants something done about it.

And he'll turn out at the polls by the millions to see that something is done about it.

Many an outlander has a jaundiced view of the average New Yorker. He pictures him as a high-living no-good in a derby hat who talks out of the side of his mouth, says "dese" and "dose," spends his days trying to wear out a hang-over and his nights swilling booze and ogling lace-pantied cuties in a night club chorus line. He is so sinful that if he lived in Sodom or Gomorrah they'd tar and feather him and ride him out of town on a rail.

Anyone who comes here much knows how false a portrait this is. There are no slant-eyed Orientals fogging opium dens with the blue smoke of dreams or slashing each other to hamburger in secret passageways in Chinatown. There are more stenographers living in Greenwich Village than Bohemian artists.

The plush drink parlors and gilded high-priced mid-Manhattan restaurants would fold in a month if they depended on local customers. It is the free-wheeling out-of-towner, his pockets full of chicken money, who cuts the hi-jinks here. The aborigines don't have that kind of sucker money, by and large.

Scratch the native New Yorker, and you find a small town. The only difference between him and the guy in Cornucopia, Neb., is that he rides to and from work on a subway, and his feet hurt him more from walking on all that concrete.

The only sin he knows is what he reads about in the paper. He

He loves this tremendous city with the same quiet pride any man has in his home town. He thinks it is in many ways the most moral and clean-living of the world's great metropolises. And to eight million people it is. In some respects it is downright puritanical.

Most visitors would have to agree. Usually they are rather disappointed that Manhattan isn't the bad, mad, vice-flaunting civic hell they had hoped for.

"This is a tame town," they complain. "I came here to haul off and have a good time. Why, New York isn't half as wide open as Chicago or San Francisco. What do you do here for fun?"

And the answer is: Most people just go on living as placidly as they do in any other small town in America, except they bump elbows more often.

Rotarians To Hear Visiting Speakers

COLUMBIANA — A Chinese couple from the island of Java, Mr. and Mrs. Tan Hao An, who have been weekend guests in the home of William Yoder of the Citizens Bank, will be speakers at the meeting of the Rotary Club this evening.

Mr. Yoder met the couple while serving as relief worker in the Far East for the Mennonite Church after the close of World War II, and was instrumental in having them come to the United States to train for leadership in Java. They have been students for a couple of years in Mennonite colleges in this country.

At the Rotary district conference in Akron, March 1-3, the Columbiana club received for the second successive year a community service award for its civic activities in Columbiana. They included cooperation in Boy Scout and 4-H Club work and support of civic projects. Columbiana won the award among clubs of 50 to 100 members.

Hal Johnson was chairman of the community service committee this year, and Attorney John L. Hutson was its chairman last year, when the first award was made. The presentation was made this year to President Robert Maurer of the Columbiana club.

Battle Deaths Cut To Record Low In Korea

LOS ANGELES — Front-line psychiatry and the armored vest have proved vital aids in reducing casualties in Korea to a level approaching the absolute minimum, says Maj. Gen. Silas B. Hays.

Hays, the Army's deputy surgeon general, also credited such improved medical techniques as the use of blood extenders, which work like plasma in fighting shock.

Among Americans wounded in Korea only about 2 1/2 per cent die, Hays told yesterday's opening session at the alumni convention of the College of Medical Evangelists, an institution operated by the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

During World War II about 4 1/2 per cent of the wounded succumbed, against 8 per cent in World War I.

Statistics on the effectiveness of the vests are incomplete, but Hays said he had heard reports of only one fatality in nine wounded among those wearing vests, and added, "When the figures are in we expect the ratio to be about 1 in 6, perhaps 1 in 7."

Armored shorts are too new for speculation on the number of lives saved, Hays told the convention.

Of all casualties sent home from Korea, those suffering psychoneurotic breakdowns account for only 4 per cent, compared with 22 to 23 per cent invalidated home after such breakdowns during World War II, he said.

Railway Strike Reported Over

WASHINGTON — A strike which had tied up the Chicago and Great Western Railway since Jan. 25, resulting in layoffs for most of its 6,000 employees, was settled last night, the government announced.

Chairman Francis A. O'Neill of the National (railway) Mediation Board said an agreement was reached after prolonged week end negotiations.

Primarily involved was the Switchmen's Union of North America. While O'Neill did not announce terms of the settlement, it was learned from other sources that the carrier had agreed to reinstate three employees discharged in September, 1951, but not with full back pay.

The parties were also said to have compromised differences over working practices and premium pay.

25 At Sears Participate In Profits

Twenty-five employees of Salem's Sears, Roebuck & Co. store have received reports on their participation in the company's 1952 profits.

With the receipt of annual individual statements, they learned the extent to which each has shared in the company's profits last year as members of the company's savings and profit sharing pension fund.

At a meeting of fund members, L. M. Manieri, manager of Sears, disclosed that this local employee group has to its credit in the fund 494 shares of Sears stock plus a cash balance of $7,208.41. Based on a year-end market value of $60 per share for the Sears stock, this group now has a total investment worth $36,848.41.

Mr. Manieri said that 114,600 Sears employees throughout the nation are members of this 37-year-old fund and they now have a total investment worth $455,000,000. Of this total, only $74,000,000 represents the amount deposited into the fund by the employee members from their wages and salaries.

As the largest single stockholder of Sears, Roebuck and Co., the fund now owns 25 per cent of the company's stock, Mr. Manieri disclosed.

"Started back in 1916, the Sears fund is designed to permit employees to share in the company's profits and to assist them in creating a financial reserve to help take care of their needs following their eventual retirement from business."

"Employee-members deposit five per cent of their wages and salaries up to a $500 maximum deposit into the fund each year. Sears annual contribution into the fund is based on an established percentage of its net profit before taxes. This sum is credited to employee-members on a length-of-service basis."

For The Long Pull

Every citizen is concerned with paying for highways. The United States could not exist without motor vehicles.

Here is a point of view on the problem of vehicles which use roads commercially—trucks and buses—and how much they should pay.

About 95 per cent of all vehicles used for trucking purposes are local. They are found on farms, in delivery fleets such as those maintained by milk and bread companies, the Post-office Department and, somewhat unexpectedly, the railroads. The sixth largest truck operator in the country is Pennsylvania Railroad.

This gives authority to an article by R. J. Littlefield, general tax agent of the railroad, in "The Penny" for February. He points out that railroads have no quarrel with trucks, only with operators of long-haul trucks which underbid railroads for business because the long haulers have an unfair cost advantage.

They do not build and maintain their own road beds. They pay only a fraction of the taxes charged against railroads, and they are not subject to inflexible regulations.

"Railroads seek no unfair advantage and wish to impose no burden of prejudiced restrictions on trucks," declares Littlefield. "We favor open competition among all forms of transportation on equal terms. Let the operator of each form of transportation pay the full cost of his operation, charge the least he can, give the best service he can—and then let each customer choose the railroad, the trucking company, the airline, the barge, or whatever other form of transportation that best suits him."

That sounds fair enough and should have the effect of narrowing down the railroad-trucker issue. The argument is not between railroads and all truck owners and operators. It is between railroads and interstate truck operators—a minority of the trucking industry.

Soft Music In Moscow

Government officials who have been guessing what the Kremlin will do next have taken note of the emotionalism permitted during the period of mourning for Stalin.

Since nothing is done in Russia without a political reason and no news from that country can be dispatched without censorship, it's evident the dictatorship intends to make Stalin's death the excuse for a spurge of tenderness and love.

It would have been possible to whoop up a fresh crescendo in the hate-America theme, or to spark off a new burst of anti-Semitism. But the dictatorship has chosen, instead, to dramatize a nation in deep mourning, weeping bitter tears over the loss of a dearly-loved leader who was kind to little children, widows, orphans, old soldiers and so on.

This is the first time the dictatorship has used the heart-rending approach since the dark days of World War II when Americans were encouraged to believe Russians were fighting on the side of human dignity under the benign guidance of an Uncle-Joe type of leader. Vast mischief was caused by that distortion of fact.

No mischief should be caused by the incongruity of soft music in Moscow. The hate-America bellowing will begin again on command.

Long Live Joe!

The appropriate thought for a free man on the occasion of Stalin's "death" is that he may have died years ago and the event is only being announced now for a psychological purpose.

In the same line of reasoning, the appropriate thought about Stalin's successor is that the man's name is of no importance. For practical purposes, No. 1 in the Communist hierarchy from now on may as well be called "Big Brother."

That was the late George Orwell's satiric title to go with the monstrosity of man-worship in "Nineteen Eighty-Four," a 1949 view of what was in store for human beings under dictatorship. By 1984, as Orwell imagined it, no one would know who was running the Communist conspiracy, or what it was doing.

The power of the state would be personified as "Big Brother," and its zig-zagging policies would have zigged and zagged so often no one would be able to remember where they began or imagine where they were going.

Joe is dead, long live Joe. Maybe Stalin died years ago. Or maybe he has been shut up in a cage for safe-keeping while his captors go through the mummery of burying something that looks like him. No one can know for certain when politicians control all information. The whole world sympathizes with the Russian people in this climax of absurdity in the long, foolish history of man-worship, now reduced to the all-time low of abstract politician-worship.

There are fewer cases where silence is golden than there are where silence is guilt.

A Michigan man fell out of bed and broke his ankle when he sneezed. A sneeze is liable to catchoo any place.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

And being let go, they went to their own . . . —Acts 4:23

Walk in the light—and thou shalt find Thy heart made truly His.
Who dwells in cloudless light enshrined,
In Whom no darkness is.
Walk in the light—and thine shall be
A path, though thorny, bright;
For God, by grace, shall dwell in thee,
And God, Himself is light.

—Bernard Barton

Today's Prayer

Bound! Bound hand and feet! Most of us, most of the time, are just that. But when we are let go, when by some circumstance we get out of our various prisons; when we are for once free to do what we really wish, watch us then! For then we go to town. Then we go where we fit, where we belong!

People who at last are "let go" from financial burdens, go into snobbishness or spendthriftiness—or service. All depends on which is "their own." People who at last are "let go" from subordinate places in life become, "dressed in a little authority," domineering—or decent. All depends on which is "their own."

Suppose now that you were "let go." Suppose your true self could run free course. Where would you go? To your own company. You would seek your level. It is your voluntary association that counts. That shows you up—or down. Once men are really free, do they "let go" God and good and graciousness? Those early Christians did not! They went to their own company, which was God's company, the company of the world's saviours, the company of those who lift the inner levels of life!

—JOHN M. VERSTEEG

Today's Prayer

Free us, Spirit of God, from that which would enslave us even if we were free. Set us fast in the liberty wherewith Christ doth make men free. Amen.

Way To Economize

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Roosevelt Struck Right Blow In 1932

Tuesday, March 10th, is another momentous anniversary. For on that date 20 years ago, Franklin D. Roosevelt struck a mighty blow for economy.

There will be clearing of throats and raising of eyebrows among Republicans who read this, but I can assure them that it is true and that the Roosevelt who did so was perfectly sincere.

Moreover, this act gave the country such a thrill of joy that on the next Monday, March 13th, people stood in line in the nation's banks, putting back the money that they had withdrawn days and weeks before.

There is a present-day moral to this story which 1953 Republicans might well ponder. I shall come to that presently.

It is only being fair to Roosevelt to say that in those days, and before that in his campaign for the presidency and in his terms as governor of New York, he was a sincere believer in economy. The virus of tax-spend-lect had not yet entered his system.

As an evidence of his sincerity, he had appointed as director of the budget a conservative, hard-shelled gentleman of Scottish descent, Lewis W. Douglas, who had for six years been a congressman from Arizona.

Douglas was not only a zealous economist but an indefatigable worker. With help from various volunteer individuals and agencies, he prepared a bill authorizing the president to slash expenditures, notably in government salaries and in veterans' benefits. It should be noted that this was not in the form of a new budget or appropriation bill, but an authorization for the president to make the cuts according to his discretion.

With the bill, which was appropriately called "A Bill to Maintain the Credit of the United States Government," went a message—one of the best and soundest of Roosevelt's entire career. The bill was passed and was approved 10 days later.

Nothing in those momentous days so started the blood of confidence to flow. It was the turning point in the depression and it was a most conservative move.

Roosevelt, in taking this action, was moved by a shrewd appreciation of politics and of human nature. He realized that he must strike at once or forever hold his peace. If he did not do so, the forces of spending would mobilize in such force that he might never get an economy measure through Congress.

Literally, he caught Congress off guard and he prevailed.

Never mind what came later. For all the gains were eventually lost, including the economical Mr. Douglas.

The lesson this should teach the present administration and the leaders of Congress is that if they expect to get economy or cut taxes or even balance the budget, they should act boldly.

If they wait until the endless process of hearings on appropriations has been carried out, the present fiscal year will pass, vested interests in spending will dig in, and the hopes of taxpayers and the promises of Republican politicians will vanish.

To fix some goal and to get a commitment from Congress to meet that goal is the way to achieve economy. The yes-if attitude of both Eisenhower and Taft is bound to end in frustration.

If economy could prevail in 1933 when people were crying for food and jobs, it ought to be possible in 1953.

Billions Unlimited

It says here in the paper that sixteen billion dollars should be made available right away to put the highways in A-1 condition.

This would be in addition to the umpteen billions urgently needed to put all the public schools in tip top condition.

And the umpty billions to build enough hospitals so all the sick people could be taken care of in an acceptable manner.

And the billions beyond number it would take to get everybody housed in a manner acceptable to the housing experts;

Also this would be in addition to the billions required to bring everything up to snuff in the matter of medical care;

And the billions to make certain that all the smart kids have the advantage of at least four and preferably more years in an accredited institution of higher learning.

And the billions to give the United States all the airplanes it may need in the event of an all-out slam-bang war.

And the billions to fatten up the first line of defense via the water route, namely, the U. S. Navy.

Also the billions to create and maintain an adequate program of national defense on good old terra firma.

Plus more billions to give the veterans of past wars sufficiently adequate tokens of esteem.

And still more billions to underwrite the security programs of Inner and Outer Mongolia and points between in order to avert future wars.

And billions to develop bigger and louder atomic explosions to cool off the military ardor of people afraid of being blown to bits and hotten up the ardor of other people who don't care.

And billions to sponge away the dark fears of all the earnest people who know a dozen places that could use money in unlimited amounts to carry on good works that almost defy description they are so worthwhile.

And billions to build all the facilities needed to make useful citizens and to keep citizens who have been useful from becoming useless.

And billions to dredge harbors, widen river channels, prevent floods, prevent droughts, prevent erosion and hasten the day when every man and all his relatives can quit fingering money and announce with a sigh:

"Keep your purses closed, friends. There are no more good works to be performed. Everything that needs doing has been done."

That day will never come. There is no point of satiety in human affairs. The work of improving the world is never finished. The more that's done, the more there is to do.

History's Court of Final Judgment

Britain Speaks Up

By JAY G. HAYDEN

Judged by discussions in the British press, the purpose of Foreign Minister Eden and Chancellor of the Exchequer Butler, arriving in Washington this week, is not so much to impose policies of their own as to fathom what President Eisenhower is up to and to win at least an appearance of British partnership in whatever may be afoot.

Domestically Britain is distinctly better off than at any other time since World War II. The gold reserve of its sterling bloc has risen by $262,000,000 over the past six months. Rationing of food and other necessities has steadily relaxed and the conservative government has delivered 21 per cent more new houses for working people than its labor predecessor.

But in the field of foreign affairs, Britain continues to suffer nothing but setbacks. On top of its losses of India, Burma and Ceylon and expulsion from its Iranian oil holdings Britain just now has agreed to surrender its half-century-old rule of the Egyptian Sudan. And with that triumph in the bag, the Egyptian government moved immediately to oust the British from control of the Suez Canal—the very last remnant of Britain's once almost complete domination of territories bordering on the eastern half of the Mediterranean Sea.

The treaty with Egypt, by which Britain is permitted to dominate the Suez Zone militarily, expires in 1956.

The British do not precisely blame the United States for these contractions of empire. But in writings by Britons concerning their foreign disasters, mention of the U. S. almost always crops up.

The quarrel with Iran came on the heels of an American oil settlement with neighboring Saudi Arabia, more favorable than the British were offering the Iranians. The U. S. ambassador to Egypt, Jefferson Caffery, was named as go-between in the Sudan negotiation and the newly installed Egyptian dictator, Mohammed Naguib is coming to Washington soon, reportedly in hope of enlisting U. S. aid in ousting the British from Suez.

In Greece, Turkey and everywhere else in the Near and Far East, the United States has tended to move in as the British moved out.

And following all those developments has now come the new American administration with a flock of actions and philosophies that scare the British.

In the face of Winston Churchill's direct urging against any step that might worsen relations with China, President Eisenhower announced withdrawal of the Seventh Fleet from the Formosa Strait, with the clear implication that this was to pave the way for some sort of new pressures on the Chinese mainland.

For the British this threatened loss of Hong Kong, their one remaining bulwark for trade along the eastern Asiatic coastline.

While the uproar in London over this and other features of President Eisenhower's inaugural address still was at full blast, there came another American sockdolager.

In his first speech as secretary of state, John Foster Dulles squarely warned that "if in particular France, Germany and England should go their separate ways"—that is, fail to get the United European Defense effort back on the track—the U. S. may "give a little rethinking" to the policy by which we already have shelled out $30,000,000,000 to Western Europe.

Especially shocking to the British was their inclusion, equally with the French and the Germans, as potential obstructors of the pending European Army plan.

The British have steadfastly refused to merge their troops into the common defense force on the ground that they, like the United States, are overseas British Dominions, and cannot be classed as Europeans.

Secretary Dulles also added to British fear of stepped-up war with Red China when he said that "Wars (in Korea and Indo-China) go on because the enemy thinks he is getting an advantage by continuing them. I believe President Eisenhower will find ways to make the enemy change his mind so they will want peace."

Judged by the British press, Prime Minister Churchill and Mr. Eden have been burning the midnight oil in quest of the best way to meet the Eisenhower-Dulles pronouncements.

Above all, it is indicated English statesmen would like to achieve a formula by which their government will be informed in advance of American intentions and allowed, at least sometimes, to participate in formulation of actions in which they are expected to participate, instead of forever seeming to be riding the tailboard of the U. S. cart.

Scratch Disease Traced To Cats

Perhaps it is hardly correct to speak of a disease as "new" when it has been known for 20 years. Nevertheless, although this is the case, I should wager that very few readers of this column have ever paid any attention to a condition known as cat-scratch disease. In the past 20 years several hundred cases have been described in Europe and the United States. Recently, a review of 60 cases of cat-scratch disease has been published in one of our medical journals. Of this number more than half the cases gave a history of having been scratched by a cat, and in only five was there no known contact with cats.

There appears to be a period of about three to seven days between the time of the scratch, or original injury, and inflammation at the place where it occurred. This is followed by a further delay of somewhere around two weeks before the appearance of the typical sign, which consists of enlargement of some of the lymph glands, draining the area originally injured.

Most commonly, it would appear that the glands in the armpit are involved, and this is not surprising since one would expect the hands or arms to be scratched more often than any other part of the body.

However, lymph glands in the neck or in the groin are also sometimes affected.

About two-thirds of the patients afflicted with cat-scratch disease have fever. Some of them have general symptoms, as well—such as headache, weakness, aching, chilly sensations and the like.

The outlook for someone who has cat-scratch disease is good. In most the illness is short and mild, though lymph glands may be enlarged and possibly contain pus for months. The cause of this disease, however, has not been discovered, but does not seem to be a germ, parasite or fungus. It is possibly caused by a virus.

A skin test has been devised which seems to be rather accurate in making a diagnosis. This is important, since cat-scratch disease can be confused with many other conditions in which there is enlargement of the lymph glands.

The greater recognition which is being given to this disease now certainly does not mean that people who own cats should give up their pets. But since this is recognized as being a rather common, widespread and frequently undiagnosed condition, more care to avoid scratching by cats or other too intimate contact with these animals and watchfulness, particularly over children who might acquire this disease, is certainly in order.

All the signs point to the likelihood that we shall hear much more of cat-scratch disease over the next few years.

No More Handshakes

The handshaking, backslapping, after-all-he's-a-jolly-good fellow United Nations routine between the free world and the Communist plotters of its destruction is getting a slight reversal on the banks of the East River. There may even be fewer merry parties thrown by one side for the other, with our side clinking glasses with Big Joe's boys. Diplomats have to be polite, restrained and smooth in the overall picture, but a sour taste was left in the public mouth whenever the top envoys went dinner-partying as one jolly little group.

Henry Cabot Lodge said "Certainly not!" the other day to suggestions that he follow the previous pattern of shaking hands with Vishinsky for the photographers. The goose-grease formula is to be limited, if not completely scrapped, we take it.

There is no time out for champagne when going up those frozen hills in Korea and no stops for dry martinis coming down. A picture of a GI pausing in the midst of a battle to shake hands with a Communist grenade-tosser would look pretty bad.

So why any cocktail or dinner dates by our side with Mr. Vishinsky and his pals as soon as they find time to stop jumping on us with both feet? Vishinsky can smile and say, "Please pass the potatoes!" almost in the same breath with "Murderer! Warmonger! Baby-killer," but it has never been considered exactly the style of Uncle Sam, John Bull and La Belle France.

In the words of a Korean vet on a hospital cot: "I used to get news in Korea about the Russians throwing dinner parties for some of our delegations, and the chairmen of our delegations pitchin' clambakes for them. Also pictures of all them handshakes. And me with my dogs half-frozen just after gettin' ordered to go out and get clobbered in another night raid! It used to make me so dizzy I needed blood plasma to see straight. I was even thinkin' of askin' for some inoculation to keep me from catchin' any new pictures from the United Nations."

"Diplomacy is a delicate art," we reminded him. "Graciousness and good will are necessary."

"Yeah, but I still don't think our side, after gettin' slugged in one room, should step into another and have cocktails with the sluggers. And it ain't hungry enough to grab dinner invitations from guys us'n' tommy guns, black-jacks, leather whips, leg chains and dirty words as symbols of brotherly love," he replied.

"You are all for the Lodge Strictly-No-Handshake policy anyhow," we suggested.

"Positively. And an iron curtain between the low punch and the guinea hen with wine," the GI replied. "It don't make no sense throwin' the kitchen sink at some fuzzy-brained school ma'am who in early girlhood had a matted milk with a Commie, and yet thinkin' it's okay for the free-world diplomats to show a shall-we-dance mood toward the boys who purge doctors, lock up priests, stage hate campaigns, launch racial wars and give us the old brass knuckle at every opportunity. Am I right?"

The American Bar Association is out with a four-point program for combating crime, but it is yet to say a word about the Kefauver committee suggestion (two years old) that it do something about the top aid of mobsters, the criminal lawyer who acts as almost a partner, a pilot and rescue squad.

Dems To Fight Taft Plan Of Probe Of Entire Korean War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional investigation into reported ammunition shortages appeared today to be expanded to take in other phases of the war in Korea — but not the whole war.

Democratic senators made it plain they will fight any effort to expose what they regard as military secrets to public view in a broad-scale inquiry such as that suggested by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

And Sen. Knowland of California, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee in the Senate, said yesterday, "It would not be profitable at this time to have a general investigation of the Korean War."

His statement, on an NBC television program, brought to light a difference between two of the top GOP figures in the Senate. Taft's sional investigation into reported ammunition shortages appeared today to be expanded to take in other phases of the war in Korea — but not the whole war.

"We should concentrate on ammunition," Knowland said, "and not expose our hand with a general investigation."

Senators Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Green (D-R.I.) deplored in separate interviews any possible effort by Congress to influence military decisions or, as they put it, "to run the war."

Taft said he thinks it might be well for the lawmakers to investigate not only the ammunition situation—as the Senate Armed Services Committee already is doing—but also the circumstances surrounding truce talks and the handling of Communist prisoners.

The Ohio senator said the idea may be broached at a meeting of GOP legislative leaders with President Eisenhower today.

Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.) said he saw no reason why the public shouldn't be informed about these matters, adding that "nothing has discouraged me more than the futile armistice talks."

Sparkman said any broad-scale inquiry such as Taft suggested brought up the question of whether civilians in Congress should tell the military leaders how to do their jobs.

"When you get into the area of trying to tell the military how to run a war, you are getting on dangerous grounds," he said.

Green said any such investigation "would tie up the military for months."

"I can't imagine anything that would help the Kremlin more," he added.

Knowland made his statement during a Korean policy debate with Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.). Monroney said a general investigation such as Taft proposed would amount to "telegraphing our punches."

Sen. Cooper (R-Ky.), in an interview favored an inquiry into what he said was the lack of a plan to end the Korean fighting. But Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said he fears public hearings on military tactics and strategy might tip off the enemy.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said the armed services committee will decide, after a session tomorrow on a dispute over ammunition supplies whether to go into other phases of the Korean conflict.

The committee has summoned Gen. James A. Van Fleet, retired commander of the Eighth Army, for a face-to-face session then with Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff; Secretary of Defense Wilson; and Secretary of the Army Stevens.

Van Fleet has testified he didn't have enough ammunition in the 22 months he spent in Korea to launch an offensive or even to counter an all-out Communist sweep.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has said that on the basis of past artillery firing records there was enough ammunition on hand.

Air Secretary Harold E. Talbot, just back from an inspection flight to Korea and other Pacific areas, said he found no ammunition worries in the Air Force bases he visited. Talbot arrived in New York last night after a tour which took him to Korea, Okinawa, Formosa and Alaska.

Col. Baker Downs 11th Red Fighter

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP)—The wife of the nation's top jet ace doesn't have any more advice for Col. Royal N. Baker of McKinney, Tex., who shot down his 11th Communist jet fighter yesterday.

"I just wish he would be careful and come on home," said Mrs. Sarah Baker.

Baker brought down the Red jet at 37,000 feet over Northwest Korea to equal the MIG-destroying record of Maj. George A. Davis Jr., the Lubbock, Tex., Sabre pilot who holds the over-all record of 11 MIGs and three Communist light bombers destroyed. Davis was shot down and believed killed Feb. 10, 1952, on his 59th combat mission. He is listed as missing in action.

Baker has only five Red stars painted beneath the cockpit of his Sabre because Sarah has warned him not to be a "hero."

"Oh, it's okay," Mrs. Baker said last night of her husband's record, and she indicated the victory string didn't carry too much weight with the couple's four children.

"They're more interested in playing cowboys and Indians."

Baker is commander of the 4th Fighter Interceptor Group. He has flown 125 combat missions and has about six more to fly before he is due for rotation home at the end of this month.

Special Report To Ike To Tell Red Atomic Program Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special atomic report compiled recently at White House direct on probably is being amplified to reassess Russia's nuclear weapons program under the new Kremlin regime.

The report, carrying a high secrecy label, was understood to have been prepared for President Eisenhower following his White House talk with the Atomic Energy Commission a few weeks ago.

Along with details of U. S. progress and plans in the atomic field it presumably contains the latest available information from scientific and agent sources on Soviet efforts. But since then a new regime has come to power in Moscow.

Under that regime, the already considerable state and political power of Lavrenti P. Beria, a ruthless and coldly calculating official, appears to have become greater.

Beria wears several official hats. He is boss of the secret police. Now he heads both the Interior and State Security Ministries, combined when Malenkov picked up the reins held by the dead Stalin. And Beria is director of the Soviet atomic energy program.

Beria's jobs fit together. His Interior Ministry gives him a firm hand for acquiring the brains, brawns and materiel needed in the atomic program. Control of the secret police brings with it control of external as well as internal espionage — the operation of the atomic spy network which has worked so well for Russia.

Beria, so far as is known, has no scientific background to qualify him for direction of the Soviet atomic program. He doesn't especially need it. To a nucleus of able Russian physicists he has added scientists kidnapped or lured from Germany, England and elsewhere.

The U. S. was profoundly concerned about Soviet successes in the atomic effort even before the advent of the new Russian regime compelled a new look at the danger of war.

St. Paul Girl Scout Groups Have Anniversary Service

In observance of the 41st anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scout movement, Brownies, Intermediate and Senior Scouts of St. Paul parish, together with their leaders and troop committee members, attended mass Sunday at 9 a. m. and received Holy Communion in a body.

Celebrant of the Mass was Rev. Fr. J. Richard Gaffney, pastor, and hymns were sung by the children's choir. The sermon of the day was delivered by Rev. Fr. Edwin Roman, C.P. of the Passionist Fathers, who directed a special message to the Girl Scouts concerning the scout oath in relation to their church.

The speaker also congratulated them on being one of the Salem troops whose work helped to bring to the Salem Girl Scout Council a first prize in the 1952 Register and Vote Competition sponsored by the American Heritage Foundation.

Marching to the church in a body, the girls followed Mary Potts, who carried the American flag, and Margaret Kelly and Margaret Potts, who comprised the color guard. Troop flags were carried by Nancy Radler of Troop 5, with color guard, Patricia Ross and Helen Kupka; Nancy Mundy of Troop 2 with color guard, Kay Hess and Joyce Englemeier; Susan Fisher, Brownie Troop 14, with color guard, Kit Del Favero and Frances Ann Ansman; Carol Ann Corso, Brownie Troop 21, with color guard Connie Bricker and Nancy Horstman.

Since the group was too large for a joint breakfast in St. Paul Youth Center, intermediate troops 5 and 2 ate at the K. of C. hall. Places were laid for 50 at tables decorated with pots of ivy between green candles in white holders. Committee members of Troop 2 were in charge, with Mrs. Kenneth Pinkerton and Mrs. Paul Harrington, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Russell Jones, Mrs. Lawrence Kaecher, Mrs. George Tracy and Mrs. Mary Bryan.

Brownie Troops 14 and 21, their leaders and committee members had breakfast in St. Paul Youth Center with 40 seated at tables decorated with bouquets of pussy willows and nests of Easter bunnies and colored eggs. Serving were Mrs. Harold Horstman, Mrs. Vincent Horning, Mrs. Leo Mundy and Mrs. Paul Corso, troop 21 committee.

Rev. Fr. Gaffney attended the breakfasts and congratulated the groups on their attendance records and activities. Leaders of the troops are:

Troop 5, Miss Mary Catherine Donahue and Mrs. Frank Hagan; Troop 2, Mrs. Wilford Smith and Mrs. William Chaplow; Troop 14, Mrs. James Minamyer and Mrs. Margaret Turri; Troop 21, Miss Jean Bricker and Mrs. Robert Bricker. Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Neil is one of the leaders of a senior troop in Salem.

Salem Junior High Varsity Wins 4th Tourney Title

Little Quakers Top Columbiana

Maple Ridge Edges Struthers, 34-32

The Salem High Varsity "A" squad won the fourth annual Salem Junior High School Basketball Tournament Saturday afternoon by whipping Columbiana 45-30 in the new Junior High Gym.

It marked the fourth time in four years that Joe Boone's cagers have topped the affair.

By winning four games in the tourney, the locals ended their highly-successful season with a 15-2 record.

Salem, only leading 12-11 at the end of the first quarter against the Clippers, stepped into a healthy 28-20 half time advantage.

The Quakers continually increased their bulge as the second half progressed to win going away. Displaying excellent form, the entire squad was very impressive throughout the tournament.

Particularly outstanding was the brilliant ball handling shown by the youngsters. Coach Boone will send up several very promising players to the high school next year, which should add to the Quakers' hopes for better high school squads in the next few years.

John Stephenson and Roy Yeager paced the scoring with 10 markers each while Twink Jackson collected nine and Bill Schuster eight.

Robert Gilchrist notched 15 for the Clippers.

Maple Ridge edged Struthers in the consolation game, 34-32, to take third place honors. A big first half enabled the winners to hold off a determined last quarter rally by Struthers that just fell short of victory.

Bob Higgins racked up 20 points to take high honors for the afternoon, pacing Maple Ridge, while Tom Stricklin netted 14 for the losers.

Salem thus received their fourth handsome trophy which will add to the already large display in the trophy cases in the new gym. In addition, each member of the winning team will receive a medal.

Columbiana also will receive a second place trophy, as will the third and fourth place schools, Maple Ridge and Struthers.

Snead To Skip St. Pete Open
BATON ROUGE, La. (P)—Sammy Snead will skip the St. Petersburg Open Golf Tournament after winning $2,000 first-prize money in the Baton Rouge Open.

The touring professionals who chased Snead in the Baton Rouge event left today for the $10,000 Florida tourney. Snead told them he would meet them later at the Miami Open, which he has won five times.

Snead, who won $350 second money at the Houston Open, vaulted into the top 10 money winners in $10,000 event here with four straight sub-par rounds over the 6,411-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course, a par-72 layout.

The White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., perfectionist added a final round 71 yesterday to his previous 69-67-67 to finish with a 72-hole total of 275, besting par by 13 strokes and runner-up Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg by 3.

Mayer, who was tied with Snead after two rounds, drove into the moss-stuffed trees twice and took a third-round 72 while Snead got a 67. Mayer never got the chance to recoup. However, he won $1,400 second money.

Tommy Morrow of Shreveport, La., a 19-year-old Louisiana State University sophomore, was top amateur with 286, finishing two strokes ahead of veteran Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O.

Freddie Haas Jr., a New Orleans driving range operator, shared third place among the pros with chunky Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich. Each finished five strokes behind Snead and netted $830.

Fred Wampler of Indianapolis and John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., received $560 for their 281s.

Clippers Ousted From 'B' Race

Fall To Waynesburg, 52-41, At Kent

The mighty Waynesburg Mohawks, rated second in the State in the final AP weekly poll and undefeated in 25 games, trimmed the Columbiana Clippers Saturday night at Kent, 52-41, to earn a berth in the "B" regionals.

The Clippers were way off their usual potent form, particularly in their shooting.

An overflow crowd of 5,701 highly-excited fans saw the Mohawks build up a 17-9 first period advantage and a 27-17 halftime bulge.

Columbiana Coach Berryman changed tactics in the dressing room at halftime, switching to an all-court press. The maneuver was successful, drawing the Clippers up to a 35-31 as the period ended.

Early in the fourth stanza, after Waynesburg tallied a foul, the Clipper's Homer Gilchrist, six-five center, netted two quick baskets to bring Columbiana up to only one point behind.

After Waynesburg hit for two, Don McBride meshed a foul shot making the score Waynesburg 38, Columbiana 36. However, the Mohawks went on a foul shooting spree, converting 10 straight charity tosses including six by Leroy Thompson to settle the outcome.

Playing a slow, deliberate game, Waynesburg thus gained the regionals for the third consecutive year.

McBride and Gilchrist paced the loser's scoring with 14 and 13 points respectively while Thompson had 23 for the victors.

In other Class "B" action at Kent, the Canfield Cardinals became the only squad from the Youngstown Section to advance to the regionals next week at Canton.

With Rod and Ron Payne featuring, the Cardinals eliminated East Sparta 67-47.

Youngstown's other entry, North Lima, fell before Northwestern 54-37. Bill Yoho, although far off his usual form, led the Zippers with 10 points. A bad third period proved to be fatal for North Lima.

Big Ten Athletes Hold Big Week End
CHICAGO (P)—Michigan's Wolverines slipped into title position alongside two defending champions Illinois and Ohio State, as Big Ten athletic teams had themselves a big week end.

Michigan won its first conference wrestling championship in nine years, Illinois grabbed its fifth indoor track crown since 1945, and Ohio State tucked away its fifth straight swimming title.

In addition Illinois won two other Big Ten tournaments. The Illini scored 40 points to runnerup Wisconsin's 31 in the fencing meet at Ohio State and topped the gymnastics crown with a 133-point effort. Minnesota's 78-point production was good for second spot in the gym meet, held at Michigan State.

Illinois' track squad, despite the loss of four key men because of the military draft and scholastic ineligibility, had little trouble winning the indoor track meet at Champaign.

Ohio State's swim team was forced to get along without Olympic champion Ford Konno, who was in bed with the mumps, but the Bucks scored 102 points, winning six individual events and the 300-yard medley relay. Michigan was second with 89 points.

The Wolverines won only two championships but scored strongly with two seconds, a third and a fourth to nip Michigan State 27 to 22 in the wrestling meet at Indiana.

to be held this week in Youngstown.

Earlier Lisbon knocked off another seeded squad, Niles, in first round play.

Coach Jack Mills had his boys up for the big one. The Blue Devils played rings around speedy North throughout the entire game.

Dean Nicholson and Jim Rutecki were the big seige guns for Lisbon, both tallying 24 points. More important, both boys controlled the backboards, a big factor in the victory.

North, far off their form which had carried them to three previous tourney victories including a 77-61 decision over the Salem Quakers, couldn't match Lisbon's crisp passing, brilliant ball-handling, and over-all height.

Leading all the way, Lisbon rolled up a 6-0 lead in the first two minutes and a 10-1 advantage midway in the initial period. North was unable to manage a field goal until there were only 2:45 left in the stanza.

Leading 21-8 at the end of the first period, Lisbon stretched it to 28-8 with 6:41 left in the half. However, North rallied in the last three minutes, and the two squads went to the dressing room at halftime with the Blue Devils leading 41-27.

Instead of resting on their laurels trying to stall out the clock, Lisbon stepped up the pace in the third period, cinching the game by taking a 64-43 third quarter bulge.

Nicholson and Rutecki were the difference, scoring several valuable points on rebound tap-ins.

When Nicholson fouled out early in the final chapter, he was accorded a tremendous ovation after playing possibly the best game of his career.

Even with the red-headed Junior out of the game however, Lisbon still outscored the out-manned and out-fought North in the last period to win going away.

Naturally, the Lisbon dressing room was a mad-house after the game. Amid all the confusion and din of well-wishers and congratulators, there was a general feeling of confidence.

Some fans even wisecracked about making hotel reservations at Cincinnati already for the state finals. Even though those remarks were said in jest, there were a few serious intentions behind them.

Lisbon's record now stands at 18-7.

Girard Outlasts Chaney
Girard won a berth in the Regionals by outlasting Youngstown Chaney, 66-57, in the district tournaments wrap-up game Saturday night.

Girard earned its triumph by bottling up Chaney's terrific scoring threat, Sam Stanpanovic. The previous night against Warren, Stanpanovic had set a tournament as well as a high school scoring record for the fieldhouse by burning the nets for 41 points.

Saturday night, he was well on his way to another big night as he countered 10 markers in the first period to pace Chaney to a 15-11 advantage.

However, he could manage only a pair of foul shots in the second period and six points in the last half. He fouled out midway in the final period when his team was trailing by two points and Chaney went down to defeat.

Girard tied the score at 5:50 of the second period, then moved ahead to stay. They led 27-23 at halftime. Both squads netted 20 points in the third period, and Chaney finally cut the score to 51-49 with 4:47 remaining in the game when Stanpanovic fouled out.

That was the turning point as the lanky pivotman was the hub of Chaney's rebounding game as well as their leading point producer.

The Salem Quakers held Stanpanovic to 19 points when Chaney blasted the Quakers 70-55 during the season.

Ken Vaughn, who meshed 28 Saturday night for Girard, was limited to 19 in Salem's 60-57 victory over the Indians.

Ohio Winds Up College Cage Season

COLUMBUS, O. (P)—Ohio winds up its collegiate basketball season tonight, with Michigan invading Ohio State for the grand finale of the regular schedule.

The campaign has been a record-breaking one, with Rio Grande practically re-writing the book. Miami won the Mid-American title with a 10-1, and Findlay the Mid-Ohio with 9-1—but the Belknap and Bevo Francis provided the thrills.

The kids from the hill country piled up 39 straight victories for the nation's top performance, and set an all-time record by averaging better than 101 points per contest.

Francis, the 6-9 freshman, came through with 1,954 points, an average of 50-plus never before approached, set a new national mark with 116 in a single game, broke the national one-season record by 903, eclipsed in a single campaign the national two-season mark, and erased the Ohio three-year mark of 1866. And the big fellow has three seasons to go.

Miami and Findlay, two of the league champs, still have some unfinished business. Miami appears in the NCAA tournaments, and Findlay in the NAIA in Kansas City.

CANTON, O. (P)—Middletown's John Erb of Post 218 won the American Legion state bowling tourney singles crown Sunday with a 771 tally.

In second place was L. Stratagier, Hamilton Post 218 with 745. J. Harrison of Middletown Post 218 copped third with 714.

The Toledo Police Post No. 512, team No. 2, won team laurels with 3,026. Hamilton Post No. 138 took over third place with 2,997.

Wynn, Doby End Holdouts, Sign Contracts

TUCSON, Ariz. (P)—Pitcher Early Wynn and outfielder Larry Doby ended holdouts today and signed contracts with the Cleveland Indians.

Wynn put his name on the dotted line for $36,000 — $4,000 less than he asked and $1,000 more than General Manager Hank Greenberg had offered previously. The new pact represents a $4,000 boost for the big right-hander who won 23 games last season.

Doby's salary terms were not known immediately. Reporters said he had turned down a $25,000 offer earlier. That would have been a $4,000 boost from last season.

The Tribe's only remaining holdout — second baseman Bob Avila — is expected to sign Tuesday when he arrives from his home in Mexico.

Manager Al Lopez plans to keep two rookie southpaws around a little longer than he originally planned.

Both 19, the pitchers are Herb Score and Jake Striker. Score, who worked last season for Indianapolis, gave up two runs in his three innings of an exhibition Saturday against the New York Giants. Striker, from Sulphur Springs, O., gave up one run that game. He pitched last year for Green Bay.

Chicagoan Leads In U. S. Bowling Classic

Trailing McGrew is Fred Lerch, Columbus, O., with 1,590.

Darkhorses Dot Field As Ohio Cagers Move Into Regionals

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, O. (P)—A classy field, dotted by a few dark horses, goes into Ohio's regional high school basketball tournaments this weekend.

Sixteen teams in Class A, and the same number in Class B, emerged from Saturday's district play and will appear in this week's frays, with four from each division advancing to the Cincinnati state finals March 20-21.

In the Class A contingent are three former champions, and two who have jumped to the big league after taking the Class B laurels. Two unbeaten quintets — Cleveland East Tech and Akron Garfield — also are on hand.

Class B offers two former champions and two unbeaten teams, and a half-dozen clubs making their first appearance in the regionals.

Both top-rated teams in the final Associated Press poll—Class B champion Lockland Wayne, and Class A Dayton Stivers — are among the also-rans.

Both were batted out Saturday night, Lockland Wayne by Mariemont — tied for sixth in the poll — and Dayton Stivers by Middletown's defending champions who were tagged in the second spot by the sports writers.

Unbeaten Glenford (29-0), the 1941 Class B champion, meets Williamsport (20-5) at Athens Thursday night. The big action starts Friday as the Class A quartets go at each other in Youngstown, Kent, Toledo and Cincinnati, and the Class B groups tangle at Canton, Athens, Toledo and Troy.

Middletown, seeking its fifth title in 10 years, meets Cincinnati St. Xavier Friday in Cincinnati. The Queen City club ousted Middletown's Butler County rival, two-time champion Hamilton, to stay in the race.

Another top event sends the only Class A unbeaten teams, Akron Garfield and Cleveland East Tech, into the opener at Kent. Akron Ellett, the 1944 Class B champion, and Cleveland St. Ignace meet in the other game to see which takes on the unbeaten victor.

Martins Ferry (19-6), after ousting both East Liverpool's powerhouse and unbeaten Cambridge in the Eastern District, is favored to take the Youngstown laurels. The Ferry club meets Canton Timken (17-5) in the first round, with Glenford 20-4 and Lisbon 17-7 competing in the other game.

The Cinderella team in Class A is Tecumseh of Clark County, in its first Class A campaign. Back in 1940 — when known as New Carlisle — the school won the Class B title in its lone jaunt beyond district play. Now it has a 23-1 record to place against Chillicothe's 18-4 in the Cincinnati fray where Middletown is the big attraction.

Newark's three-time champs (1936-38-43), carry their central district title to Toledo to meet Sandusky, while Toledo Woodward and Bowling Green, two of the most prolific and unsuccessful bidders for the state crown, tangle in the other game.

Only once in seven tries has Bowling Green gone past the first round in regional or state tourney play, losing 10-2 to East Liverpool in the opening game of the 1923 state meet in its most futile gesture.

Woodward lost the state finals to Middletown in 1944, was beaten in the semifinals in 1946, lost in the state meet's first round in 1944, was beaten in the semifinals in 1946, lost in the state meet's first round in 1938, and second round in 1936, and the first regional round in 1943 and 1947.

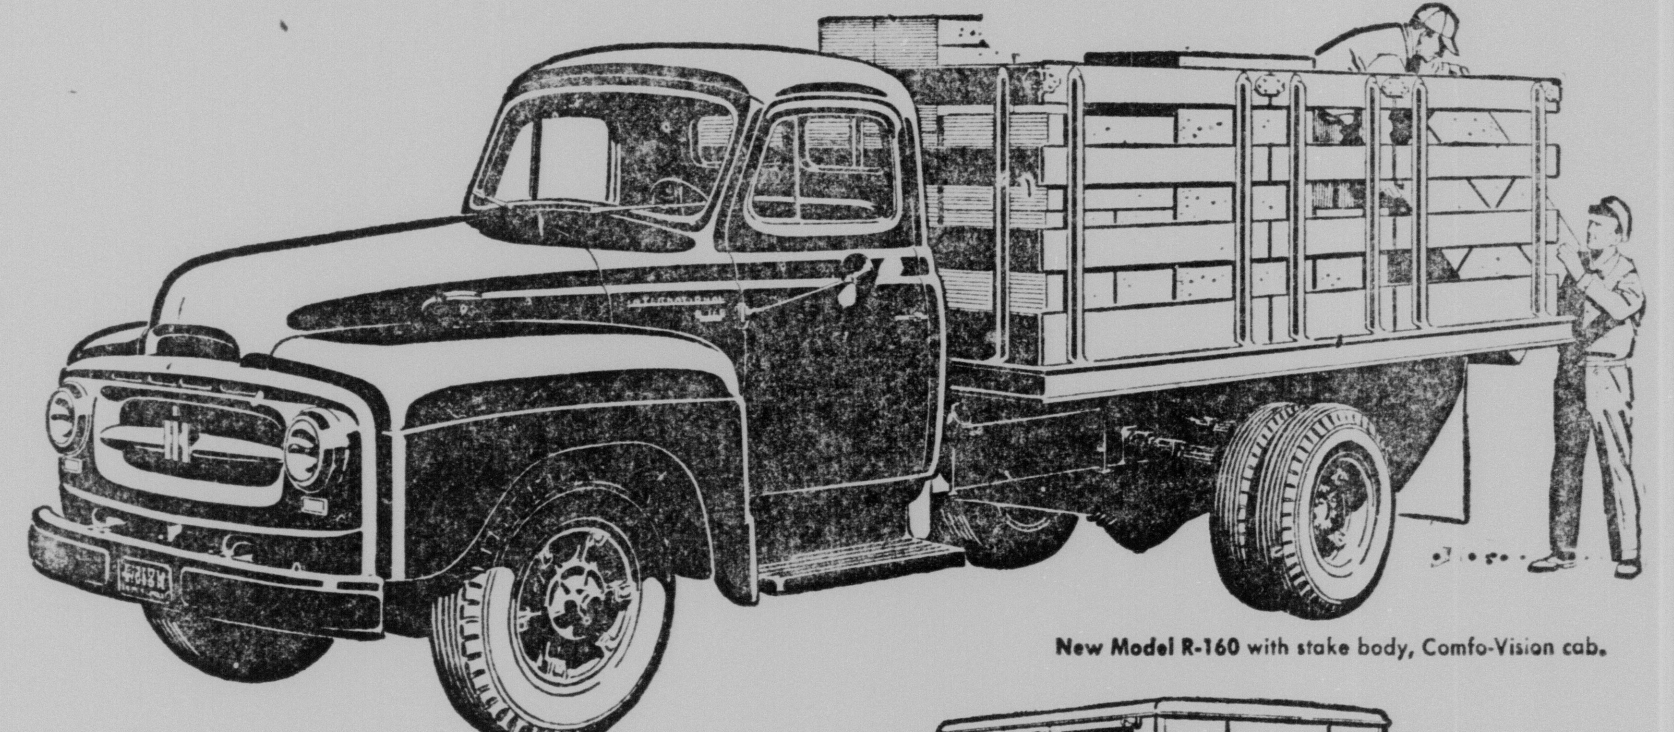

Canfield of Class B has reached the state finals twice, losing the title to New Carlisle in 1940 and to Glenford in 1941. Glenford, in addition to its "all-the-way" jaunt in 1941, was ousted in the 1925 semi-finals, and in the 1943 and 1946 regionals.

Delphos St. John, 1949 Class B king, reached the semifinals in 1924, but the tough-luck club of them all is Waynesburg. The Stark County Mohawks lost in the first round in 1934, but reached the state semifinals in 1942, 1943, 1946, 1951 and 1952 — only to lose.

For the third straight year the Mohawks are headed toward the state meet with an unbeaten record — this time 25-0. They meet Canfield 25-1 in Canton Friday, with Strasburg 25-4 and Northwest 30-1, waiting for a crack at 'em if they get by Canfield.

Used as a lowly lead-pony most of last year, Ocean Drive, Fred W. Hooper's seven-year-old horse, is back racing at Hialeah.

Saigh Leaves Cards At Camp

Pitchers Look Good In Exhibition Tilts

By ED CORIGAN
AP Sports Writer

Fred Saigh and the St. Louis Cardinals officially parted company today when the former owner of the Redbirds left their St. Petersburg camp for St. Louis to turn the club over to August Busch.

Saigh, who is scheduled to start a prison sentence for income tax evasion May 4, sold the club to Busch, head of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company, two weeks ago.

He stayed with the team in St. Petersburg, Fla., until the very end and before leaving gave the players a short talk.

"This is the last time I'll see you as owner of the Cardinals," he said. "I regret very much having to leave you. My sentiments will always be with you and I want you to play as hard for the new owners as you would for me. The organization I am leaving is far better and stronger than the one I inherited."

"You are playing for one of the greatest managers in the business. Eddie Stanky is a players' manager, not a management manager. I hope he will always be that way. He is always for you. He is the kind who fights for his players."

Saigh said:

"I'm terribly sorry to see him leave. He was wonderful to me. He was the best boss I ever worked for."

Thus ended the dapper little attorney's association with baseball, probably forever. Before he bought the Cardinals with Steve Hannagan in 1947, he had no experience in the game whatsoever. He bought out the former postmaster general in 1949.

Before Saigh talked to the players, the Cards dropped a 5-2 Grapefruit League decision to the New York Yankees, in the presence of Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. Yank Manager Casey Stengel used most of his regulars. The New Yorkers scored all their runs off Harvey Haddix. Both Card tallies were unearned, coming as a result of an error by Billy Martin.

Pitchers showed best in the second day of the exhibition season, with Johnny Lindell, the former Yankee outfielder, making a comeback as a knuckleball specialist, going the distance for the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Buccos defeated the Cuban All-Stars in Havana, 8-2. Lindell yielded only five hits.

In Tampa, the Detroit Tigershipped the Cincinnati Reds 5-2 on Eddie Kazak's three-run homer. Lefty Hal Newhouse, a disappointment last year, looked very good, working the first three innings.

Satchel Paige, Harry Brecheen and Virgil Trucks, whose combined ages go over 100, pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 5-1 triumph over Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League team's park.

On the other side of the fence were Bobby Shantz, Warren Spahn, Ronnie Mrozinski and Bob Chakales.

Shantz, the most valuable player in the American League last season, lasted just one inning as his Philadelphia A's took a 13-10 pasting from the Washington Senators in West Palm Beach, Fla. Bobby was clubbed for five runs in the first inning.

Spahn gave up all Brooklyn's runs in the second inning and the Dodgers went on to lick the Boston Braves, 4-1, in Miami. Russ Meyer made his pitching debut for Brooklyn and allowed one run and three hits in three innings.

Rookie Mrozinski gave up four runs to the Boston Red Sox in the eighth inning, and the Sox went on to stop the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-4, at Sarasota, Fla. Ex-GI Curt Simmons started for the Phils and was tabbed for two runs in the first and one in the third.

Chakales was the victim in the New York Giants' 5-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in Phoenix. Leo Durocher's men sent three runs across the plate in the first inning, including a none-on home run by Bobby Thomson—of Chakales' deliveries.

In other exhibition games, the Chicago White Sox set back the Chicago Cubs, 11-6, in Tucson; the Cincinnati "B" team defeated the Philadelphia Phillies "B" outfit, 8-5, at Clearwater, Fla.; and Seattle of the Pacific Coast League stopped the St. Louis Browns' "B" team, 3-2, at Palm Springs, Calif.

Commissioner Frick said he would not approve a major league shift to Milwaukee for the 1953 season, ending speculation of the St. Louis Browns moving.

Fitch Wins Endurance Auto Race In Florida

SEBRING, Fla. (P)—John Fitch, Stamford, Conn., drove an American-made Cunningham racer at an average speed of 74.9 miles to win the Grand Prix of endurance auto race which ended here at midnight after a 12-hour grind.

Fitch and his relief driver Phil Walters West Palm Beach, Fla., covered 173 laps on the 5.2-mile course in winning a thrilling 12-hour duel with the British driving team of George Abecassis and Reg Parnell driving an Aston—Martin.

Other drivers in the first 10 on the basis of distance covered, with the make of the cars and total laps included, Ed Lunken, Cincinnati, O., Ferrarri, 153 laps.

Pobielan May Win Starting Berth

TAMPA, Fla. (P)—Randy Clarence "Bud" Pobielan, the Brooklyn castoff purchased by Cincinnati last season, may find a home with the Reds if he keeps on making a good impression on Manager Rogers Hornsby.

Hornsby conceded Sunday he was high on the 29-year-old right-hander following his six-inning pitching performance in the Reds' opening spring training exhibition over the week-end.

Asked whether he was figuring on Pobielan as a regular starter, Hornsby promptly shot back, "Yes, indeed; In fact, he may be my opening day pitcher."

Lisbon, Girard Qualify For 'A' Regionals

The Lisbon Blue Devils and the Girard High Indians qualified for the Regional Class "A" Basketball tournament this week in Youngstown by winning their games Saturday night at the South Fieldhouse in the District Tournament finals.

Before a packed house of close to 2000 fans, Lisbon, the surprise of the affair, pulled the upset of the tourney by blasting favored Youngstown North 76-53, while Girard outlasted Youngstown Chaney 66-57.

North was the team who dropped the Salem Quakers out of tourney competition 77-61. It's interesting to note that Salem handed Girard one of its more four setbacks this year in a 60-57 thriller.

Chaney walloped the Quakers 70-55.

Both Girard and Lisbon will move into the Youngstown Regionals to be held this Friday and Saturday at South. Other squads in the regional include Martins Ferry and Canton Timken.

Ferry earned its Regional berth the hard way. After mighty East Liverpool downed Ferry twice during the regular season, Ferry eliminated Liverpool on Thursday night, 60-54. Saturday night, Ferry won its regional spot by blasting previously undefeated Cambridge 57-55.

Cambridge was rated fourth in the State and the Potters fifth in the final AP poll.

Timken didn't have an easy row to hoe in its victorious spurge by any means, either.

They had to trim Alliance, rated sixth in the State, in the semi-finals on Friday night at Canton, and Minerva Saturday night. Minerva had edged mighty Massillon, rated third, the previous night.

In the biggest game in the state Saturday night, Dayton Stivers, the first place squad in the final pool, tangled with mighty Middletown, voted second, at Dayton. The defending State Champion Middies are now ranked as favorites to win the state crown by virtue of their 59-49 conquest over Stivers.

Brewery Holds Lead In ABC Tournament

CHICAGO (P)—High scoring teams from Milwaukee and Madison, Wis., and Indianapolis, will take to the alleys tonight in the American Bowling Congress golden jubilee tournament.

Eighty regular division teams failed to unseat any of the top 10 teams Sunday and Budweiser Beer of Cincinnati continues to lead the pack with 3,106.

Three changes took place in the individual division. Vince di Napoli of Batavia, N. Y., took second in the all-events with 1,957, behind Earl Kindra of Detroit, Mich., who has 1,960.

In the singles, Ed Mozek of Cleveland, O., moved into a tie for third with 689 and Al Sienka of Minneapolis tied for ninth with 680.

Satchel Paige of the St. Louis Browns is the oldest player in the major leagues. According to official records Satch was born Sept. 11, 1908.

THE NEW 1953 Nash Rambler custom convertible features continental design combined with American passenger comfort. Styled by Pinin Farina, leading European custom body designer, the Rambler series also includes three station wagon models and the Country Club hardtop convertible.

The new Rambler features a continental rear tire mount as standard equipment, an improved Super Flying Scot engine, a larger one-piece curved windshield, new exterior color selections and new interior upholstery and trim combinations. For the first time, dual-range hydra-matic transmission is optional equipment on the Nash Rambler. Nash is sold in Salem by the Buckeye Motors Co.

LaSalle Opens NIT Battle Tonight

NEW YORK (P)—Defending champion LaSalle, with two of its operatives flying on one wing, makes its debut in the National Invitation Tournament tonight in a quarter-final game against upset-minded St. John's in the top contest of a Madison Square Garden triple-header.

The other games will pit Manhattan against Louisville in another quarter-final engagement and Brigham Young against Niagara in a first-round clash.

While the big boys are battling it out in the Garden, the small colleges will begin firing in their week-long NIT tournament in Kansas City. Thirty-two teams, representing every section of the country, will fight it out for that title.

Tuesday night, the NCAA begins action on four fronts with a good possibility that the 22-team field won't even be completed. Both the

Indiana Drops 1st Tilt In Big Ten

CHICAGO (P)—Iowa's basketball team isn't in a particularly enviable position tonight: It faces a vengeance - bent Indiana squad piqued by its first Big Ten defeat of the season.

And the game is on Indiana's home floor at Bloomington, Ind. Iowa, carrying a win streak of six Big Ten games into the battle, faces the Hoosiers aroused by their victory over Indiana Saturday night at Minneapolis. It was Indiana's first reverse of the conference season after 16 straight wins.

Iowa, meantime, certified Purdue's sole occupancy of the cellar by a 65-52 victory over the Boiler-makers.

In other games, runnerup Illinois plastered Ohio State 93-74, Michigan State slipped by Michigan 55-52 and Wisconsin drubbed Northwestern 74-58.

Tonight's games end play for all Big Ten teams except Indiana, which goes on in NCAA tournament competition. Illinois plays at Northwestern, Michigan at Ohio fourth - place Minnesota's 65-63 State and Michigan State at Wisconsin over Indiana Saturday night at Minneapolis. It was Indiana's first reverse of the conference season after 16 straight wins.

Building Materials Available Now Without Any Restrictions

For the first time in more than 10 years anyone in Salem or vicinity can build or modernize a home or other building without having to worry about either materials shortages or government controls, according to William Sponseller, local lumber and building materials dealer and member of the Public Affairs Committee of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"As of today, anyone can construct any type of building and can use any desired types of materials without securing permission from the federal government, provided the necessary materials can be obtained without priority assistance," Mr. Sponseller said.

"Inasmuch as all types of lumber and other building products are available in full supply, this means that everyone is free to start building without fear of delay due to scarcities or governmental red tape," he added. "Some controls still remain over critical materials used in manufacturing certain building products, but even so the output will be sufficient to meet all foreseeable demand."

"Lumber and most other building materials have been decontrolled by OPS, and average prices of building products are below the ceilings formerly in effect. No important increases are expected."

"An adequate supply of mortgage funds for home owners and others also is anticipated locally, although difficulty in arranging FHA and VA housing loans is reported in some areas owing to the fact that the government has kept interest rates on those loans at a level which makes them unattractive to lenders," Mr. Sponseller said.

Hard Floors Last With Subflooring

Just as a sturdy foundation is essential to the structural soundness of a building, proper wood subflooring is a prerequisite of satisfactory hardwood floors in a house of conventional joist construction, authorities on flooring point out.

An adequate subfloor provides a firm base for the hardwood floors, lends bracing strength to the house and by acting as a barrier to cold and dampness helps keep a home warm and dry in winter, the experts say.

They explain that finish floors of oak or other hardwood ordinarily can be expected to give a lifetime of trouble-free service if the subflooring has been installed according to approved methods.

Use Kiln-Dried Boards
The subfloor boards, it is emphasized, should be of good quality kiln-dried lumber about an inch thick. Use of "green" lumber is an invitation to floor squeaks. Boards containing excessive moisture eventually dry out and shrink. In so doing, they pull loose from the nailing. When a person walks across such an area, his weight causes a slight movement of the nails by which the flooring is attached. This can result in annoying squeaks.

Square-edge boards of 4 or 6-inch widths are preferable. Those wider than 6 inches are subject to excessive lateral expansion and contraction. The square-edge, rather than the tongued and grooved types, are recommended because snug joining generally is not desirable. On the contrary, the boards should be spaced about 1/4 inch apart to allow for possible expansion.

Plenty of Nailing
Plenty of nailing is of paramount importance in preventing subsequent squeaks. The boards should be face-nailed solidly at every bearing point with two 10-penny nails. Should it be necessary to use boards wider than 6 inches, extra nailing is required. With 8-inch boards, for example, three 10-penny nails should be driven at each bearing point; with 10-inch boards, four nails. Each end or joint of a board should rest solidly on a joist.

Best construction calls for laying the boards diagonally. In homes of more than one story the diagonal direction preferably should be reversed on each floor. Besides lending additional bracing strength, this arrangement permits installation of the hardwood flooring either lengthwise or widthwise of the rooms.

Fix-It Forum

Q—What is the highest temperature at which a water heater thermostat can be safely set?

A—Set it below 140 degrees F. to reduce rust and heat loss.

The Ainu of Northern Japan are believed to be descendants of the primitive Neolithic inhabitants of the country.

Convactor Heating Fits Modern Plans

Families who are planning to build new homes in the spring, or who are considering modernizing their present homes, might give some thought to using convectors in their hot-water or steam heating systems.

The Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau calls convectors advantageous because they provide close temperature control, respond quickly to demands of the thermostat and are relatively easily installed.

Quickly responsive heating systems are a distinct advantage in homes with large window areas, such as the window walls and picture windows in so many modern homes.

Convectors are heating units with finned piping behind a smooth front. Cold air near the floor level enters an arched opening at the bottom of the unit, is warmed by the fins behind the enclosure, then re-enters the room through the top grille.

Many newer homes with picture windows employ new convectors whose fins are made of copper or aluminum. These metals respond instantly to temperature changes, supplying heat quickly when room temperature drops, and shutting it off with equal speed when the comfort level is reached.

Convectors supply two types of heat: convected heat, which is simply warm air in motion, and some mild radiant heat, which is given off by the metal surface of the enclosure. This heat is particularly effective in preventing window and floor drafts.

Convectors move large volumes of moderately warmed air very gently throughout the living area of the home, according to the heating bureau. Wasteful ceiling heat is kept to a minimum and cool spots are practically eliminated.

The newest models of convectors are designed especially for installation under picture windows. These are in addition to several other models.

The three basic types are: free-standing models installed flush against the walls; recessed convectors, which may be partially or completely recessed in walls, usually beneath windows, and the wall-hung type.

Convectors are used with either hot-water or steam heating systems. Their construction is such that there is little heat loss through outside walls.

Overheating of bedrooms can be avoided, says the Convactor Manufacturers Association, by use of dampers which are an auxiliary-control feature of the modern convector units. The manually-operated dampers may be closed entirely during sleeping hours, if desired, or adjusted to individual requirements.

In this way, bedroom temperatures may be changed without affecting temperatures in other rooms.

Experience has shown that convectors are well suited to use in basement recreation rooms, as well as in other rooms.

Know The Right Sandpaper For Every Purpose

ABRASIVES FOR EVERY JOB

Sandpapers of varying degrees of hardness and toughness are best used for the specific work for which they were made.

Strictly speaking, sandpaper isn't sandpaper and its manufacturers are a little touchy about it being referred to by that name. What you call "sandpapers," they call "coated abrasives," and they're right because there is no sand used in making them.

As Behr-Manning Corp. points out, there are today five different mineral grains of various degrees of hardness and toughness used in making "sandpaper," so the term doesn't apply any more.

Three of the five minerals used as cutting agents are natural, being mined or quarried. They are flint quartz, garnet and emery. The other two—aluminum oxide and silicon carbide—are artificially produced in electric furnaces. A sixth mineral, iron oxide, is used in making crocus cloth, but this can hardly be called an abrasive, for it is valuable as a metal-polishing agent.

Flint paper long ago gained popular acceptance as a wood-finishing abrasive, but the development of garnet paper, which is much superior in cutting ability and enduring sharpness, took the play away from flint.

Flint paper is still widely used by the average buyer who is not aware of later developments in abrasives, but has almost no use in industry, according to Behr-Manning. Now its best application is in removing old paint. It is the most inexpensive sandpaper, and because any coated abrasive has short life in paint removal, there is little advantage in using a harder and sharper abrasive.

Use coarse-grit flint paper for the first rough sanding and medium grit for the second. Flint can be used for finish sanding, too, but garnet does it better.

Garnet is available for wood finishing in "open" and "closed" grains. The open-grain paper is for use on work where an excessive quantity of chips or dust tends to clog the grains.

Garnet finishing paper is for final wood finishing, sanding intricate shapes for which great flexibility is needed and for rubbing down paint and varnish between coats.

For rough sanding with garnet, use grit 40 (1 1/2) or 50 (1). Medium sanding, grit 60 (1 1/2) and 100 (2-0). Extremely fine finish, 120 (3-0) or finer.

Emery is a slow-cutting, short-lived abrasive like flint paper and has been somewhat outdated by faster-cutting aluminum oxide and silicon carbide grains. Used on metals for such work as rust removal, it is usually satisfactory.

where the job isn't extensive.

Aluminum oxide paper and cloth are available for a great variety of jobs, such as hardwood finishing, metal preparation and finishing and in conjunction with lacquer finishes. Their hard, sharp and enduring grains stand up under heavy service.

Silicon carbide paper is particularly valuable for sanding undercoats of enamel, lacquer and other finishes. This diamond-hard abrasive is also recommended for plastics, composition materials and metals.

Call them sandpapers or coated abrasives, but you'll be better satisfied if you use the right paper for the job.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—What shrubs may we plant about the house that will provide cut branches for forcing indoors during the winter?

A—Forsythia, Japanese Quince, Slender Deutzia, Star Magnolia, Fragrant Honeysuckle and Pussy Willow are among the easiest plants to force. Cut young, vigorous, well-budded growth the desired length, place in water in a warm room. Cut a bit of stem off the bottom every few days. A syringing with tepid water hastens opening flower buds.

Q—Will a snake-plant survive if no water is given it for two weeks? We will be away from home.

A—Your snake-plant (Sansevieria) should be able to take it for two weeks. The plant stores water in the thousands of leaf-cells to carry it over a dry period, so water it well the day you leave.

Q—How can I induce the geraniums which were brought into the house last autumn to continue blooming through the winter months?

A—The only way of assuring winter bloom on established geraniums is to prevent them from blooming during the summer by picking off all flower buds as soon as they appear. Geranium plants grown from early summer cuttings will flower in winter if placed in a sunny window, in a cool room.

Q—How and where should leftover vegetable and flower seeds be stored for the winter?

A—Unused seed should be stored in a ventilated metal box in a dry cold place. Glass jars are likewise suitable if the tops have holes punched in them to permit air to enter.

Q—Is it time now to root cuttings of geraniums for bloom on Memorial Day?

A—Much too late — to insure bloom for late May. Cuttings should have been started last September.

Plan With Care To Get More Space

In step with the modern home-maker's budget-minded dreams is the room that can include all the extras of a separate wing tucked on the house or a larger apartment. Probably the best of all is the extra bedroom to care for an expanding family. A TV room, study, playroom, or sewing corner make more claims to extra space.

With skillful planning and paper work you can pack a lot of "extras" into one modest-sized room. It may be your living room, sun porch, den, basement recreation room, (if it's airy and dry) or even your dining room. Smartly styled dual-use furniture, from desks that double as vanities to sofas that conceal made-up beds, adds the needed flexibility to such a room. Even the old-time day bed with its not-so-concealing "throw" has given way to trim chintz or tweed-covered studio divans with contemporary wrought iron frames or provincial curves. Wedge-shaped bolsters make for comfortable daytime sitting. Fine innerspring mattresses are soft for sleep but strong enough to take use around the clock.

To extract the most use from a room with the least effort takes smart figuring. A cemetery silence usually greets my bright "who's going to help me move the furniture?" So, I found it was easier and less frazzling to nerves to shift paper furniture around on a room sketched to scale on graph paper than to heave the real McCoy into new locations only to find the couch overlapping the door by two inches.

Ready to help rearrange your furniture is a new booklet published by a bedding manufacturer (see below for the address) which comes complete with graph paper, furniture cutouts, and a baker's dozen of ideas for achieving an "extra" room. Paper furniture marked to scale includes tables, chairs, radios, TV cabinets, breakfronts, pianos and various-sized sofa-beds and studio couches.

All you do is diagram your floor plan on paper, noting window and door openings, and cut out the furniture which matches what you have or are budgeting to buy. Incidentally, if you are planning to move into a new home, a diagram noting furniture placement, drawn ahead of time, will save you hours of work plus money for paid helpers.

The new booklet is chockablock with suggestions and tips for arrangements. For example, you'll need an eight-foot clearance in front of any sofa that unfolds to bed length. Allowing for that, you won't want anything heavier than a light coffee table blocking the front of the sofa.

I had to change one arrangement because the diagram showed that one would have to walk across the unfolded sofa-bed to leave the room. In this case, a studio couch will serve the purpose and fits the space.

Where ample clearance is available, the width of a sofa-bed may be the important space factor. They range in length from a 43-inch armless settee to a full 82-inch sofa. Designs, whether modern sectionals, traditional Lawson, or Regency, are styled to fit any decor. So are covering materials such as informal tweed, chintz, or the more elegant matelasse and metallic weaves.

The wide range of designs and widths makes for flexible use. Two sectionals pushed together against a long wall make a sumptuous-looking sofa by day and twin beds by night. Youth Held In Death Of Girl, 17, In Car

SIDNEY, O. (AP)—Sheriff Robert Gearhart of Shelby County today said he was holding Richard Cooper, 19, in connection with the mysterious week-end death of Ruth Drees, 17.

Cooper is held without charge in Shelby County jail.

The sheriff said he was awaiting a report of pathologists as to the cause of death of the Sidney High School junior, whose body was found in a parked car on a lonely railroad right-of-way near Sidney Saturday night.

Sheriff Gearhart said Miss Drees and Cooper were together.

Prokofieff, Red Composer, Dies At 61

LONDON (AP)—One of the Soviet Union's musical greats, Sergei Prokofieff, is dead at 61. He was the victim of a cerebral hemorrhage, the same ailment that took the life of Joseph Stalin.

Black-bordered accounts in London's Communist Daily Worker and the Paris party organ L'Humanite announced the death of the famed composer of symphonies, ballets, "Peter and the Wolf," and a host of other music.

The announcement said he was buried in a Moscow cemetery on Saturday. Presumably he died sometime last week.

The Western world considered him one of the greatest of modern composers. In the Soviet Union — to which he returned in 1925 after seven years in the United States and Western Europe, he was in and out of government favor. In the past several years he had made his peace with the Soviet Communist party, extolled its leaders in his work, and once more was in good standing.

by Charles Zellers of Lisbon when Zellers pulled in front of Moore on Route 7, three miles southeast of Columbiana, Saturday at 4:50 p.m., patrolmen said.

A car operated by Joseph Maze, 26, of Massillon struck a car driven by Clyde Howell, 47, of Lisbon when Howell tried to back up in front of Maze on Route 30, seven miles west of Lisbon, Saturday at 6:55 p.m.

Patrolmen reported a car driven by Jimmie Higgins, 18, of Beloit crashed into two parked cars when he lost control of his car and skidded on Route 45, four-tenths of a mile north of Wellsville, Sunday morning at 9:45.

The parked cars were owned by James Dinch and E. Downard of Wellsville.

Cars driven by Earl Hicks, 29, of Minerva and Bernard Werrick, 20, of East Liverpool sideswiped on Route 30, one mile east of Minerva, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Stalin

the big cities across the country rocked with artillery salutes in Stalin's memory.

Then, as the nation's leaders returned to the platform, troops of the Moscow garrison and of the funeral cortege marched past the mausoleum, paying last honors.

The bodies of Lenin and Stalin will lie in the mausoleum until construction of a vast new pantheon — a shrine of Communist "immortals"—is built for them and for other dead Soviet leaders.

Malenkov's oration was his first pronouncement of his new government's program. He said he supports the doctrine of Lenin and Stalin that capitalist and Socialist countries can long live in peaceful "coexistence and competition" with one another.

He called also for the further strengthening of the Soviet state and its armed forces, and of friendship between the Soviet nationalities, with Communist China, and with the "peoples' democracies" allied with the Soviet Union.

His government and the Communist party, he continued, must and will develop Soviet industry and agriculture and improve the material, cultural and living standards of the people.

The new Premier demanded party unity on the home front and an "implacable" struggle against internal and foreign enemies.

"The Soviet Union protects peace, is against war and is for friendly relations with peoples," he asserted. "The peoples want peace. We must avert bloodshed and secure peace. We must avert war and live in peace with all countries. We consider the policy of peace among all nations is correct and proper."

Malenkov concurred: "We have everything needed to build a Communist society."

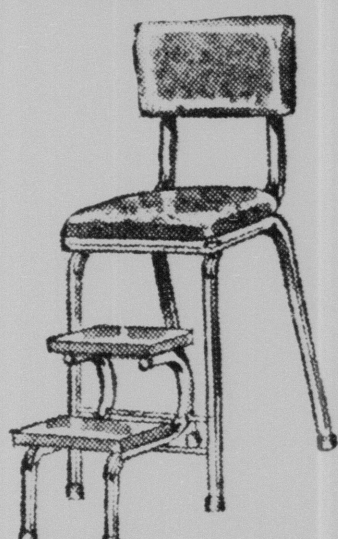

"No force exists in the world to arrest our advance to communism. Farewell—our dear leader."

"Glory to Stalin!" Beria described the Soviet Communist party as "united and unshaken" and said the Soviet people "approve our internal and foreign policy." The head of the state's new Interior Ministry and of its internal security forces promised co-operation with Communist China, and the peoples' democracies, and said the government "will strengthen friendly relations with workers in the capitalist and colonial countries."

"We are friends of the heroic Korean people," he added.
